PROGRESSIVE GROUP ALLIANCE AND UNIPRO COMBINE TO INCREASE PURCHASING LEVERAGE

Richmond, Va. (February 13, 2009)— Performance Food Group announced today that Progressive Group Alliance, Performance Food Group's independent purchasing organization, will outsource all of its foodservice business and group purchasing functions to UniPro, based in Atlanta, Georgia.

The decision to outsource to UniPro stems from Performance Food Group's continuing desire to provide exceptional service and value to its business partners, including customers, distributor partners, and suppliers. UniPro is the largest network of independent distributors in the United States. This agreement, combining Progressive Group Alliance and UniPro, will result in greater breadth of supplier relationships and a total of $48B of purchasing leverage.

George Holm, President and CEO of Performance Food Group said, "Strengthening our relationship with UniPro will enhance our strategic procurement opportunities well beyond what exists today. They are excellent partners and we believe this venture will be mutually beneficial for many years to come."

Roger Toomey, President and CEO of UniPro, said, "We are changing the landscape of the industry through this partnership and we are thrilled that we are joining forces with such an outstanding organization. Together, we can multiply these efforts and create positive results for all of our partners."

David Matthews, President and CEO of Progressive Group Alliance, adds, "Progressive Group Alliance and Unipro are leaders in the foodservice industry. The benefits that will be derived for the entire foodservice supply chain by these two entities joining forces will be tremendous. We look forward to working with our newest partners from Unipro and are excited about our future."
